Moon Dolphins, Unite!

What do you get when tons of Latin enthusiasts gather together in the exotic locale of Eastern Kentucky University? What happened from July 25 to 30 this past summer? Where can I learn more information about Moon Dolphins? Yes. This. Is...Nationals! (mind the reference)

The 2011 NJCL convention was held at EKU in Richmond, Kentucky. This year’s theme was “bene legere saecla vincere”: to read well is to conquer the ages, courtesy of Isaac Flagg, a 19th century (classy) Classicist. It was a time to see (gaze at) the adorable NJCL President, Elliot Wilson; to hear students speak on the benefits of reading Latin literature (despite the echo-like acoustics); and, of course, to rock it out in the world’s largest toga party.

91 students, 16 Latin teachers (including all 3 state chairs), 2 national committee members, 2 ACLers, 2 adult chaperones, and 15 SCLers journeyed across the river to partake in the annual festivities. The OJCL delegation enjoyed many successes, from Top Ten finishes in graphic arts and creative arts, to winning elections on the national level, to getting 3rd place in Spirit! Jenna Galletta (Lakota) won 2nd place overall in Graphic Arts, and Anna Richey’s (Indian Hill, former OJCL Historian) state scrapbook earned 4th place. Sam Buck (Westlake), former OJCL President, was elected NJCL Parliamentarian; Megan Whitacre (formerly of McAuley, currently of Holy Cross), was elected to the position of NSCL Editor; and Dan Garrett (formerly of Lakota, currently of Ohio University), was elected NSCL President. In addition, the Certamen teams performed well, showcasing grace and poise as they battled Roman History questions and translated tricky subjunctives. Novice and Intermediate both placed 6th, and Upper earned 9th. Congratulations to everyone else who challenged themselves to take academic tests, won a ribbon or two for their awesome graphic arts projects, or played as team members in Ludi games.

The OJCL delegation showcases their spirit at Nationals.
And kudos to Andrew Boudon (St. Edward), who signed Fleetwood Mac’s “Landslide” in That’s Entertainment. Ohioans are truly the best delegates. Ever.

There were too many inside jokes and funny moments to include in this article, but several attendees highlighted favorite parts:

- Georgia’s cheer...you know... (Samuel Yun)
- crazy voting caucus (Carolyn Boyce)
- unofficial Certamen match between Wisconsin and Ohio (Bobby McDonald)

Wishing you had gone to nationals? Have no fear! The 2012 NJCL Convention is approaching. It will be held at Wake Forest University (Winston-Salem, North Carolina) from Thursday July 26 to Tuesday July 31. Be there.

This Issue’s Trivia Question:
What faithful friend of Aeneas was lost at sea in Juno’s Book I fit of rage in Vergil’s Aeneid?
President: Anna Delamerced

Grade: 12
School: Summit Country Day School
Best Part of Convention: At states, it's having late-night chats with my fellow officers until 3 AM (yes. We don’t get enough sleep). At nationals, it’s befriending new people from all across Ohio, Wisconsin, and even Maryland! Also, moon dolphins.
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? I’d be Athena. She’s definitely rocking the aegis. Aaand, one of the greatest cities in the world is named after her (not the one in Ohio...).

1st VP: Mark Samaan

Grade: 12
School: Summit Country Day School
Best Part of Convention: Definitely the elevator parties.
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? Hestia, because someone’s gotta tend to that fire!!

2nd VP: Maddie Briner

Grade: 12
School: Wyoming High School
Best Part of Convention: The best part of both conventions is SPIRIT!!
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? If I were a mythological character, I would be Athena because she's good at just about everything!
Secretary: Elizabeth Boor
Grade: 12
School: Westlake High School
Best Part of Convention: Getting to meet a bunch of new people you wouldn't usually meet. Bonus: They don't look at you funny when you make bizarre mythological references or talk about inaccuracies in references in today's pop culture.
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? Hmm.... that's a toughie. Probably Atalanta because she's outside a lot and happy. She never lets anyone tell her what she can or can't do. I'm a definite fan.

Parliamentarian: Tom Carroll
Grade: 12
School: Westlake High School
Best Part of Convention: Certamen. It feels great pitting your wits and reflexes against the best with the stirring support of your school or state. Even more fun is watching the Bad Larry’s and other teams compete in the World Series of Certamen!
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? Broteas. Broteas is the only naturally occurring 'bro' mythological character (Broseidon is cheating, even if he is god of the Brocean), which is pretty awesome.

Treasurer: Heather Smith
Grade: 11
School: Shaker Heights High School
Best Part of Convention: SPIRIT! AT STATES AND NATS! (how fitting!)
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? I would be a unicorn because they're epic. HOWEVER, Greeks actually believed unicorns were real...so.....a centaur because it's close enough to a unicorn, but not.
Historian: Maggie Gray

Grade: 11
School: Madeira High School
Best Part of Convention: My favorite part of convention is the spirit at the beginning of Friday night's G.A. and basically all of Friday night.
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? If I could be any mythical creature I would be Zeus. Simply because he controls all of the other gods and does whatever he wants all of the time.

Torch Editor: Susan Wallace

Grade: 12
School: Madeira High School
Best Part of Convention: I love battling it out against the other delegations for the spirit awards before GAs!
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? I would have to choose Demeter because she’s such a good mom and I love to take care of people!

NW Gubernator: Charlie Baddour

Grade: 10
School: Westlake High School
Best Part of Convention: Meeting new people and hanging out with everyone!
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? I would be Poseidon because you can control the majority of the world, and that would be awesome.
NE Gubernator: AJ Yule

Grade: 11
School: Shaker Heights High School
Best Part of Convention: The best part of Nationals was the final GA and the Roman banquet/procession.

If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? I would be Rhadamanthys because the name is awesome.

SW Gubernator: Carolyn Boyce

Grade: 12
School: Summit Country Day School
Best Part of Convention: Making friends for a lifetime!

If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? Iris! Riding around on rainbows all day? Yes please.

SE Gubernator: Nick Grewal

Grade: 11
School: Columbus Academy
Best Part of Convention: Certamen, whether participating at the state level or just watching some intense matches at Nationals.

If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? Typhon, because he was the greatest of all the monsters and basically laid the smack down on everyone.
Who are my State Chairs?

Magistra Bruening
Job: Project State Chair
School: Madeira High School
What’s the best part of Convention? The best part for me is watching the students compete and participate with such a PASSION for the Classics! We are passing on the torch!
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? Thalia, the muse of comedy, because life would always be fun...and funny!

Larry Dean
Job: Student Officer State Chair
School: Summit Country Day School
What’s the best part of Convention? The best part of convention is working with the state officers & the certamen teams. Both groups are always so focused on doing their best.
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? Nereus, so I could shape shift and hang out with some seals!

Bryan Paul Inderhees
Job: Technology State Chair
What’s the best part of Convention? Seeing the awesome amount of effort all the students put into their projects, performances, and tests.
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? As an engineer, I've always been pretty keen on Daedalus. If I could create wings like that, I would love to hang in the sky lazily with the birds on a summer day.
The Indispensible OSCL

Who Exactly Is the OSCL?

The Ohio Senior Classical League is the college equivalent of the OJCL. Just like us, they attend state and national convention and have a board of officers. The big difference between us and them is that, well, they do all the grunt work to help set up and run convention. They're a big, bad, group of classics lovers, and as their name might entail, they're indispensable.

Because of that, we'd like to acknowledge the hard work they put in each year and recognize a member of the board in each issue of the Torch. The OSCL members are very helpful and important people, and we couldn't do Convention without them, so if you ever meet one, be sure to throw them a quick “thanks!”

This Issue’s Spotlight: Andrew “Ignatius” McCaffrey

What OSCL position do you hold? I'm the treasurer.
What school do you go to? I attend Bowling Green State University.
What's the best part of convention? As a JCLer, I enjoyed the semi-formal final dances at nationals. At states, I always liked watching the skit performances.
If you could be any mythological character, who would you choose and why? I'd like to be Finn McCool because he led a legendary band of Irish warriors.

If we're trying to keep it classical, I'd choose Hector. These lines shed light on why I'd choose him: "He stretched his arms towards his child, but the boy cried and nestled in his nurse's bosom, scared at the sight of his father's armour, and at the horse-hair plume that nodded fiercely from his helmet. His father and mother laughed to see him, but Hector took the helmet from his head and laid it all gleaming upon the ground. Then he took his darling child, kissed him, and dandled him in his arms, praying over him the while to Jove and to all the gods. "Jove," he cried, "grant that this my child may be even as myself, chief among the Trojans; let him be not less excellent in strength, and let him rule Ilium with his might. Then may one say of him as he comes from battle, 'The son is far better than the father.' May he bring back the blood-stained spoils of him whom he has laid low, and let his mother's heart be glad."

Students Flock to Fundraising Opportunity

One of my favorite Latin Club events is “Flamingo-ing.” Our group has, in its possession, around two dozen pink yard flamingos. To raise money for Convention busing, we’ll go to the house of a former AP Latin senior and stick the decorations in their yard, attaching a note to the front door asking for a donation. It’s so exciting to plant the flamingos at night, avoiding detection by the parents in the house! Following that, I’ll often get to call them a few days later to let them know that we’re picking up the flamingos along with their donation. The parents of last year’s seniors always get a kick out of the fundraiser, and it goes to a good cause!

Foreign Languages Unite to Fight Breast Cancer

On a crisp fall morning each October, it has become a Madeira Latin Club tradition to participate in a city-wide charity event, Cincinnati’s annual breast cancer walk. Making Strides Against Breast Cancer amassed 800,000 pedestrians and $60 million in donations last year. This year, we hope to extend those figures with another exciting aspect... integrating different foreign language clubs to our group!

Like many other students at our high school, I have friends in other languages besides Latin. So I was excited when I learned that this year, we are opening up the event to French Club and Spanish Club! This addition has the potential for our event to double its total number of Madeira supporters! It’s great that Latin has invited other clubs to join the walk.

I already love the walk, but since we have more participants, I love it even more! It promotes unity amongst the languages. We can become a little pugnacious in our pursuits to prove who is more passionate and which language is better, but when we all hang out together, friendships can deepen and hostilities neutralize. Also, the more walkers Madeira has, the better reputation we create. Madeira can become known for their benevolence, and serve the community even better in the future!

When you think about ancient Greece and Rome, which all you astute scholars out there must, what pops into your head? Gladiators? Togas? The Olympics, perhaps? For a Latin enthusiastic like me, there is only one event which comes to mind: the National Junior Classical League (NJCL) Convention, held annually in the last week of July. This year's location was Eastern Kentucky University, situated in scenic Richmond, Kentucky. For one hot, sleepless, action-packed week, over 1500 Latin students congregated at EKU for the primary purpose of sharing a mutual passion for and knowledge about the classics with their peers. Summit came home with some truly impressive honors, including finishing second in the nation for our Latin club newsletter, Vox Latina, compiled and edited by juniors Morgan Hughes and Regina Merrill.

Along the way, after navigating an incredible array of academic contests, athletic competitions, and artistic performances, it is impossible for you not to acquire some fresh knowledge as well. There was, for example, an extremely popular colloquium (convention-speak for a lecture) presented by the President of the NJCL, Elliot Wilson, illustrating and connecting the abundance of classical references found in modern heavy metal music. Still, if shredding and screaming aren't your cup of tea, there were also colloquia offered on everything from the making of wax tablets to the rules of a revered and truly loved tradition of convention – spirit.

If there is one thing that is never in short supply at convention, it is undoubtedly spirit. Imagine an arena, filled to bursting with an undulating mass of cheering, dancing students, all in perfect synchronicity, all clothed in the NJCL colors of purple and gold. The volume is deafening, and just when you're certain it can't possibly become louder, Ohio engages Virginia in a raging spirit war. Astoundingly, students from both delegations might have been playing euchre or, the convention favorite, Apples to Apples, just an hour or two before in the student union. This sort of camaraderie and unconditional friendliness is an overarching theme which becomes increasingly apparent as the week progresses; the feeling cannot be accurately described in words. National Latin Convention is a truly unique experience – one in which a true zeal for learning, a passion for the classics, and unrestricted kindness converge in an inimitable way which is truly unforgettable.
